This program is designed to introduce the concept of having a coordinator or in providing a more formalized training session for an existing coordinator.

Developing the Surgical & Restorative Implant Treatment Coordinator Role

There are many roles in the dental practice and one that has gained popularity, due to the demand for specialized care, is the Surgical and Restorative Implant Coordinator.

These roles are designed to ensure a more positive and comprehensive approach to patient care. The Coordinators provide a guided approach to patient therapy with great communication and interaction between the surgical and restorative offices. This attention creates a more personalized experience for the patient.

Defining the role of the Restorative and Surgical Coordinator is crucial in ensuring that the relationship between the surgical and restorative practice run smoothly.

This program is an introduction to the role of coordinator and how these individuals can be ambassadors of the dental practice.

This program will take the journey into:

- Outlining the responsibilities of each role
- Requirements for growing this role in the dental practice
- Benefits of this role in the dental practice
- Tracking Patients and the processes that are needed
- Communication Forms

The second part of this session, which will be a more advanced and enhanced version of this program, will be held on March 2-3, 2019 in Mesa, AZ.

Dear Dental Implant Coordinators,

Dental CE Solutions sees the potential in ensuring that Dental Implant Coordinators are offered education that creates value in their profession.

By educating the Restorative and Surgical Implant Coordinators, they in turn, can educate the team and their patients. Implant Coordinators have the ability to drive education, sales and process' within a dental practice.

We hope you can attend this session and be able to interact with others just like you.

We are looking to add an activity within walking distance of the hotel on Friday night, so please try to make it in early enough to enjoy!

*Sincerely,
Anne & Shelley
Dental CE Solutions*
